Adenauer Appeals For World Aid To End Berlin Crisis

BERLIN (AP)—Chancellor Konrad Adenauer appealed to the world Sunday to turn "with anger and disgust" against the Communist regime in East Germany.

Speaking on the ninth anniversary of the anti-Communist uprising in East Germany, Adenauer also appealed to the Soviet Union for the release of revolt victims still jailed. Such a gesture, he said, would open up a new hoped-for era of negotiation.

Both the 86-year-old chancellor and Mayor Willy Brandt, 48, of West Berlin, his political rival, angrily condemned the shootings of Germans by East German guards at the Red wall dividing Berlin.

Mass Rally
They spoke at a mass rally outside West Berlin's City Hall to mark the anniversary of the abortive East German revolt against communism in 1953.

In the early hours of the anniversary, East German guards fired at two men climbing over the wall to West Berlin, but missed. Three other shots, also presumably at people trying to escape, were heard at another point.

Pact Near On West Guinea

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—U.N. Acting Secretary-General U Thant announced Sunday the Netherlands has accepted in principle the proposals of U.S. diplomat Ellsworth Bunker for settlement of its dispute with Indonesia over West New Guinea.

On the record, that means the Netherlands now takes the same position as Indonesia on the Bunker plan and there is no reason the two should not resume talks with Bunker. The previous talks were broken off in March after only three days.

Thant called the word to Indonesian President Sukarno. He expressed hope negotiations under Bunker's auspices would be resumed without delay, and that hostilities could end once the territory as the Dutch withdrew over a period of not less than a year or more than two years. The high commissioner would transfer authority to the Indonesians over a one- to two-year period.

Guarantee Rights
The two sides, under the Bunker plan, would agree to guarantee the rights of the Papuan people who live in New Guinea to self-determination, including a plebiscite. Finally, Indonesia and the Netherlands would agree to resume normal diplomatic relations, including settlement of such issues as Dutch property claims.

Reelected President

EAGLES MERE, Pa.—Eugene F. McNamara of Stroudsburg was elected Sunday to his second term as president of the Pennsylvania Forestry Association.

The association concluded a two-day annual meeting. Other officers elected include: Mrs. J. Charles Runk, Pittsburgh, vice president; Dr. Peter W. Fletcher, State College, executive vice president.

Ignoring the Communist regime's complaints that his presence was illegal and provocative, Adenauer flew to Berlin in a U.S. Air Force plane to take part for the first time in the city's observance of the national "day of Unity."

After arriving, Adenauer visited the wall the Communists put up 10 months ago to stop the heavy flow of East Germans into West Berlin. Saturday night, West Berliners set bonfires visible to the East Germans as reminders that their uprising against communism is not forgotten.

People who visited East Berlin on this ninth anniversary said all was quiet there, with very few East Berliners on the streets and no evidence of any increase in police patrols.

Reds Hold Meeting
As Adenauer and Brandt led the rally in West Berlin, the Red regime held a "National Congress" of 2,300 delegates as a show of support for communism.

East German Communist leader Walter Ulbricht spoke briefly, reiterating his claim the Communist regime is the only legitimate representative of the German people. His speech was mild and lacked any reference to the revolt nine years ago or the Berlin wall.

Police estimated 100,000 people packed the square outside the City Hall in West Berlin. But this year the thousands who used to come from East Berlin were absent—cut off by the wall. The rally was televised so East Germans — at considerable risk — could see it.

200,000 Imprisoned
Adenauer said that since 1945, 200,000 East Germans had been imprisoned for acts that would never be regarded as punishable in a state founded on law.

Fire Rages At Montreal Penitentiary

MONTREAL (AP) — A mammoth fire raged out of control Sunday at ancient St. Vincent de Paul Penitentiary as police and troops in full battle dress surrounded the building to prevent a mass breakout by hundreds of rioting prisoners.

Unconfirmed reports said six persons had been killed.

Officials said the fire, apparently set by the prisoners, was the worst in the history of the 80-year-old prison. They said all but one of the buildings inside the prison walls were destroyed or heavily damaged.

At least 25 guards and 30 prisoners were reported injured in clashes at the peak of the riot. Police said a number of the prisoners were armed.

An estimated 1,500 prisoners took part in the outbreak and several hundred were reported loose in the prison yard late this evening.

Shots still were being fired six hours after the riot and fire began.

Efforts to fight the fire were hampered by lack of water. It still was out of control late in the evening after gutting the library and chapel building, a three-story brick and concrete structure, and damaging several others.

Strike Of Major Airline Is Called For Tuesday

Local GOP Official Gives Story To State Chairman

THE CONTROVERSY over the dual GOP meetings Thursday night in Monroe County Courthouse was presented to George I. Bloom, state GOP chairman Friday night in Philadelphia by Mrs. Mary Fontanella, vice chairman of the county Republican Committee.

Mrs. Fontanella spoke to Bloom immediately following a dinner given Friday night for all vice chairmen, committee-women, council board members and state candidates and their wives.

"I handed him the entire front page of the Friday, June 15, Stroudsburg Daily Record," Mrs. Fontanella said, "then, I stated, 'The report to the right of Hanford Cleveland's picture is true, factual and a clean report.'"

Mrs. Fontanella continued, "but, I told him, 'if our Republicans in Monroe County find it hard to believe, I can't blame them. If I had not been there through the entire proceedings, I'm not certain I could have believed it.'"

In reporting the state elections Saturday morning, Mrs. Fontanella said they were conducted very much like the latter portion of the Thursday night meeting.

"And, after each nomination," she said, "I heard the clearly spoken question, 'Are there any other nominations?'—A phrase not offered to our committee people Thursday night by former chairman Unangst."

Following his reelection, chairman Bloom pledged, "I will work night and day if necessary, to do everything within my power to restore harmony and unity in the Republican party in every county in Pennsylvania."

Mrs. Fontanella said Bloom made the same statement to her in relation to Monroe County Friday night.

Refuse Warning Of President Kennedy

WASHINGTON (AP)—Flight engineers Sunday called a strike against Trans World Airlines, effective at 2 p.m. EDT, Tuesday, despite a warning by President Kennedy against a walkout.

In another effort apparently to halt the strike, Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg said officials representing the flight engineers union, the TWA Council of Air Line Pilots Association and the company have agreed to meet with him Monday morning.

Goldberg asked all the officials to make no further statements about the strike pending their meeting with him.

The Flight Engineers' International Association is in a deadlocked dispute with Trans World, Pan American World Airways and Eastern Air Lines over the makeup of jet cockpit crews and authorized strikes against all three but Sunday's action was limited to TWA.

R.A. Brown, flight engineers union president, said in a statement that, "Out of respect for the concern of the President over the balance of payments situation and our concern for the unemployment hardships which would be inflicted on a large number of airline employees it has been agreed to limit the strike to TWA."

TWA carries a little more than 10 per cent of the travel to overseas points from this country. The other carriers in the overseas field can more than absorb the passengers from TWA," Brown said. "In addition, the domestic carriers can easily handle TWA's domestic segments."

Plans are to continue operations on Pan American and Eastern, Brown said, "unless those companies wish to engage in an illegal lockout in the hope of achieving government intervention, seizure of the airlines and compulsory arbitration."

The decision to strike was made Saturday after a meeting of 40 flight engineers in New York City but it was not until Sunday afternoon that the union announced it would limit the strike to TWA.

Nation's Welfare

President Kennedy warned the flight engineers at his news conference last Thursday that a strike would hurt the nation's welfare. He implied that steps might be taken by the government to halt the strike if it was ordered. The union has expressed willingness to arbitrate all issues — except the major one — a controversy over whether the third man in the crews of jet airliners shall be an engineer or a pilot.

The three officials who agreed to meet with Goldberg at 9 a.m. EDT, Monday, are H.S. Dietrich, chairman of the TWA chapter of flight engineers; Capt. Russ Derickson, chairman TWA council of air line pilots; and David Crombie, vice president of industrial relations of TWA.

TWA has about 600 engineers and a total of around 19,000 employees over all, making it the largest of the three lines involved in the dispute.

There was no immediate indication from TWA whether it would make any effort to maintain all or part of its schedules through use of supervisory personnel.

THE Bushkill Fire Department was called to get a duckling out of water Thursday night. For a three-week-old duckling, it was hot water.

"About supper time," Rev. William L. Petcovic said, "my son Bruce counted duck bills and found one missing."

He said six ducklings were swimming on the fish pond at Sunnyside Camp when Bruce discovered he only had five.

"We went down to the fishpond and could hear the duckling calling from the drain pipe. The four inch pipe drains the fish lot and empties into the lake," he said.

"None of us could reach the duckling," Rev. Petcovic explained, "so, we called the Bushkill Fire department. They came and pumped out the 50 by 100 foot pond."

Rev. Petcovic said it took about half an hour to pump the water down to a level where it could no longer run into the overflow pipe.

"Then," he said, "Kyril Beyk of reached into the pipe and pulled the bedraggled duckling out."

Investigation found that the protective screen had slipped off the drainage pipe and the duckling was sucked into the pipe with enough water to take him underground, out of reach.

"He wasn't fat enough to plug the pipe," Rev. Petcovic explained, "the water could get around the duck, but he couldn't get back up the pipe."

"Bruce has been 'mother hen' to these ducklings since one he received at Easter time died," Rev. Petcovic said, "he doesn't want anything to happen to them."

Thanks to the Bushkill Fire Department, nothing did.

Pencil Quarrel Ends In Death

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A quarrel over a pencil ended in the fatal stabbing of 21-year-old Clarence Johnson Friday, police reported.

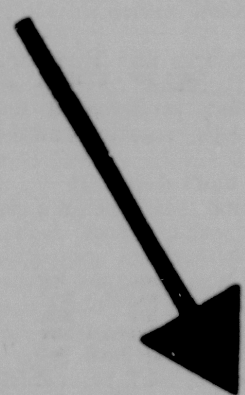

They said Johnson entered the apartment of 15-year-old girl who was studying with a friend, Ernest Campbell, 17, and claimed she was using his pencil.

Johnson and Campbell then began scuffling, they said, and Johnson was stabbed with a pocket knife.

Campbell was held without bail on a homicide charge.

False And Misleading

The Federal Government has a proper police function, which it sometimes exercises well, sometimes poorly. But just as the cop on the beat has human failings perhaps as bad as those of the miscreants he must deal with, the Federal government also shows traits it must deal with, the Federal government also shows traits it must surpress in others.

The other day for instance a group of foreign journalists accused our Government of false and misleading advertising, of all things, and made a very good case for their charges.

As one of the concerns of the Federal Trade Commission is false and misleading advertising, and because this concern sometimes has been carried to rather ridiculous extremes, it might pay to take a look at how Uncle Sam goes about advertising when he pays for the space in the papers.

The United States Travel Service, the foreign newspapermen declared, have been luring European tourists over here under false pretenses. For example, one Federal government ad told Europeans they could travel in the U. S. for as little as $98 a week.

This, of course, is not false. But it is misleading. A hitchhiker, eating exclusively at wayside hot dog stands, might be able to stay within a budget like this. But $98 a week will finance a rather de luxe vacation in Europe, and our government didn't even hint at the austerity that would be involved in this kind of tour.

The U. S. travel people also extolled the glories of riding a mule at dawn to the bottom of the Grand Canyon, but neglected to mention to the relatively impecunious Europeans that the only way to do this would be to spend the night at a nearby hotel where the average rate is $20 to $25 per night. This figure would stagger a European, in tourist season, on the Riviera.

The moral of all this seems to be that there is no more honesty within the Federal Government than there is outside it—a lesson we should have learned through almost two centuries of scandals. Washington is not the last word on moral guidance, as some Federal messiahs beg us to believe these days.

Opinions Of Other Editors

Role Of Newspapers

Newspapers, in competition with news broadcasting media, has a value to the public which has not been given the consideration it deserves. For the newspaper is a public, printed record which can be clipped and saved for future reference whenever needed.

In most large libraries today micro-films preserve thousands of pages of newspapers. In a matter of minutes any issue for several years back can be reproduced before the library patron's eyes. The daily newspaper is an on-the-spot full coverage of history in the making—preserved for posterity.

This fact alone makes a healthy press an essential to the future welfare of the nation. But when we add to it the observation made by Attorney General Robert Kennedy the other day, the newspaper's role appears even more essential. In a speech which he delivered at an Associated Press luncheon the Attorney General said:

"I do not believe newsmen are self-appointed judges of what is right or wrong or what is good or bad . . . In my opinion the newspapers are equal to the courts—and sometimes ahead of the courts—in our system in protecting the people's fundamental rights."

Attorney General Kennedy expressed great admiration for the newsman's role of seeking the truth and informing the public. This is one of the fields in which the record needs to be preserved and only in the printed form is it susceptible to preservation in full so that it can be studied at leisure. The kind of history that "goes in one ear and out the other" all too frequently becomes garbled in the process.

Over-Production

It used to be said during the 1930's that there can be no over-production; there can only be under-consumption. This was the National Association of Manufacturers' explanation for the Depression in those days.

In a measure, there was some truth in the axiom but it does not fit our current picture because we are being drowned by international over-production. Factually, there can be both over-production and excessive consumption in some countries while others neither produce nor consume adequately. Generalizations do not fit the facts and figures.

The so-called stockpiling was not started to set up reserves in times of plenty for times of war; agricultural stockpiling started as a means for withdrawing products from the market with the object of keeping up agricultural prices. To them applied the same doctrine to minerals and other commodities but the government used the excuse of stockpiling for the next war.

We are now so over-produced that if we were forced to sell or to dump our surpluses in world markets, even to rescue the starving as some propose, we could, without much difficulty, start a universal depression; particularly in the currently prosperous countries.

This has brought great fear to such countries as Canada and Australia which require export markets for foodstuffs and to South Africa, Canada and Rhodesia which require export markets for metals and minerals. But we are not the only over-producers. We not only over-expanded our own plant and equipment during World War II and the Korean War, but we rebuilt the industries of Japan, West Germany and other countries. We also aided the Communist countries to establish and expand their industries, particularly heavy industries.

The result is that we have created more manufacturers than the world can consume goods for a payment. Thus, we give away machinery not only to replace destroyed industries but to create new ones in countries which never had any, diffusing the trade possibilities in known markets on the assumption that other markets will become available.

It may be true that the time may come when the present world capacity for the production of steel, now about 465,000,000 tons, will not be enough, but presently it is too much unless the United States or Soviet Russia undertakes the building of enormous public works like the great dam on the Nile, for which neither country will be paid because Egypt has not the money to pay, and Egyptian cotton is not needed in such huge quantities as to meet Egypt's obligations.

The American Medical Society had gone on record as strongly opposed to the King-Anderson program. Bringing the story closer to home, this column wondered what might be the formal stand of the Pennsylvania Medical Society on this bit of pending legislation.

Consequently we suggested to Dr. W. Benson Harer, President-elect of the Pennsylvania Medical Society that he express the stand of fellow physicians in Pennsylvania on the controversial issue.

Dr. Harer did this in two guest articles appearing in this column May 22 and May 23 — and incidentally for the first time presented the formal stand of the Pennsylvania Medical Society on the pending King-Anderson Bill.

At the time, because of the tremendous public coverage of arguments "for" the Kennedy Administration-backed legislation, this column felt that something more than adequate coverage had been given on the "pro" side — and thus little need to go over the "other side" in this column.

Getting Caught In The Middle

By Mason Denison
Harrisburg — Columnists — particularly syndicated columnists — occasionally get caught in the middle.

We're on "dead center" in this respect right now — although in this instance it is a somewhat gratifying dead center position.

All of this goes back to the latter part of May when at that time — as now, for that matter — considerable controversy raged over whether medical care for the aged should be provided under the already enacted Kerr-Mills Law or the now pending in Congress King-Anderson Bill (HR 4222).

One of the basic differences of the two aged medical care programs centers around the method of financing — the King-Anderson Bill providing for this via Social Security, the Kerr-Mills program does not.

The King-Anderson Bill now pending in Congress and carrying the wholehearted backing of the Kennedy Administration has received wide publicity, with administration aides staunchly setting forth their (favorable) feelings and opinions.

The American Medical Society had gone on record as strongly opposed to the King-Anderson program. Bringing the story closer to home, this column wondered what might be the formal stand of the Pennsylvania Medical Society on this bit of pending legislation.

Consequently we suggested to Dr. W. Benson Harer, President-elect of the Pennsylvania Medical Society that he express the stand of fellow physicians in Pennsylvania on the controversial issue.

This situation has been developing since 1948 and is now in a critical state which requires a daring decision — which can as easily be wrong as right. This is difficult for most of our people to understand, for they assume that we make our own decisions through the President and Congress. That ceased to be so in 1917 when we joined in World War I aspiration, it must be conceded) suggested that the "other side" be presented in two guest columns giving the side of the Lawrence Administration (which incidentally sees eye-to-eye on the subject with the Kennedy Administration).

Unquestionably most qualified to write on the subject is Deputy Secretary of Public Welfare Norman V. Lourie, also President of the National Association of Social Workers. It will be his presentation of "the other side" which will appear in this column during the next two days.

For a refreshment of memory, it should be noted that Doctor Harer in May summed up the Pennsylvania Medical Society viewpoint of the pending King-Anderson bill as "not needed — premature, unrealistic and dangerous (and) not an adequate program of health care for the aged", contending that the present Kerr-Mills aged medical care program much better meets the needs of today's senior citizens.

About Town

We had an advance tour Friday of the new direct distance dial phone installations in Danbury. The place is about half the size of a football field with towering columns of myriads of gadgets, gizmos and wiring setups. While this column was most properly impressed with the guided tour protocol I also wandered around to find out these vital facts:

(1) We've been using a phone in the bathtub for years. A candid engineer told me to cut out one or the other.

(2) If you don't have to use a phone during a thunderstorm, don't.

(3) For a few weeks the local girls have been asking patrons to give their digits instead of PI when placing a phone call. Evidently the patrons told the girls where to stuff digits because they abandoned this procedure.

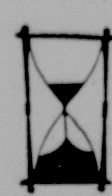

(4) While the phone company wants you to use colored phones, I noticed the phones in the electronic areas were black.

(5) The place is alive and crawling with fantastic new electronic equipment but one sign said "Do Not Remove TOOTHPICKS from the C.C. Relay Until the Out Work Checks."

(6) The new automatic dialing will not cause any loss of jobs to the regular girls and it always makes me wonder just what makes a girl regular.

The American Medical Association introduced a resolution requesting the Associated Press and United Press not to publish medical stories until investigated by the A.M.A., but the Ohio State Medical Association inferred that the resolution was "bunk" and said that the best way for the medical association to get along with the press was to "get along."

This writer, whose best friends are doctors and people, finds that doctors as individuals are very superior people but get three of 'em together . . . and they pass a resolution.

Khrush Pushing Feelers In 'Neutralization'

By Robert S. Allen and Paul Scott

Washington, June 18: — Premier Khrushchev had South Vietnam uppermost in mind when he wrote President Kennedy that the formation of a coalition government in Laos could serve as a guide in solving other crises between the West and the Sino-Soviet bloc.

Even before his optimistic message arrived at the White House, the Soviet Communist leader had Ambassador Anatoly F. Dobrynin busy sounding out Secretary of State Rusk on whether the U. S. would agree to an international conference on South Vietnam.

Ambassador Dobrynin, taking advantage of a weekend cruise down the Potomac River with Secretary Rusk, suggested that the U. S. and Russia should work together to end what he termed "the growing threat to peace from the undeclared war in South Vietnam."

He proposed that President Kennedy join Premier Khrushchev in organizing a conference on South Vietnam similar to the one they arranged on Laos. He suggested it could be held in Geneva after the finishing touches on the guarantees for a "neutral" Laos are worked out later this month.

Secretary Rusk, one of the original authors of the plan to neutralize Laos, said he would pass the conference proposal on to President Kennedy. He hinted that the chances of the President's agreeing to this diplomatic effort would be greatly increased if Khrushchev used his influence to halt North Vietnam's aggression against the government of President Ngo Dinh Diem.

PEIPING'S TRIAL BALLOON—Significantly, Premier Khrushchev's "overture" for an international meeting on South Vietnam is being supported and even duplicated by the Chinese Communists.

Peiping put forward its trial balloon in a private message premier Chou En-lai sent Prince Norodom Sihanouk, Cambodia's head of State.

The neutralist Prince was urged by Chou En-lai to take the lead in publicly calling for an international conference to form a neutralist government in South Vietnam similar to those already established in Cambodia and Laos.

The Chinese Communist leader's message, copies of which were obtained by U. S. and British diplomats in Phnom Penh, also calls on Prince Sihanouk to support a Chinese-Soviet demand for the immediate removal of U. S. military personnel from South Vietnam.

President Kennedy and his advisers are privately sounding out congressional leaders of both parties for their reaction to the U. S. joining in an international conference on South Vietnam.

Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield's call last week for a re-examination of U. S. policy in Southeast Asia was the first of several trial balloons that the State Department is planning to float to determine the support in Congress for a modification of present policy in South Vietnam.

The surprisingly favorable reception of Senator Mansfield's speech by his Senate colleagues already is encouraging Secretary Rusk to explore these Communist overtures further to ascertain whether a conference would lead to the end of the fighting in South Vietnam.

Whether President Kennedy could ever persuade President Diem to join in such an international conference with the Communists is highly conjectural.

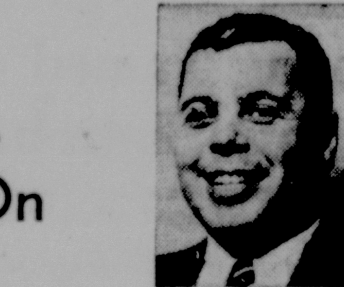

President Diem is known to be vigorously opposed to any move to neutralize South Vietnam or to have his government unified with the North Vietnamese Communists.

However, as in Laos, President Kennedy has shown that he is ready to use his most powerful weapons, including the threat to cut off U. S. aid, to induce our anti-Communist allies to make agreements with their Communist opponents if he believes this will de-fuse the explosive situation in Southeast Asia.

Note: North Vietnam's Premier Pham Van Dong, in a little-noticed interview with Britain's Communist Daily Worker, reported that "Many Communist governments are demanding that a conference of countries concerned be convened to find an effective solution with a view to safeguarding the 1954 Geneva agreement on Vietnam." He said his government supported an immediate international conference.

PLANES TO PICTURES — Walter McConaughy, Ambassador to Pakistan, has been summoned to Washington for consultations on India's proposed purchase of Russian MIG-21 jets. Pakistan is a member of the SEATO alliance, and McConaughy has been urging Secretary Rusk to throw U. S. weight against India's plan. So McConaughy has been asked to come to Washington to discuss the matter from Pakistan's viewpoint . . . Leonardo da Vinci's famed masterpiece Mona Lisa is virtually certain to come to the National Art Gallery. John Walker, director of the noted Capital Gallery, is going to Paris next month to confer on exhibiting Mona Lisa in the U. S. Walker will meet with French Minister of Cultural Affairs Andre Malraux, who voiced approval of the unique plan during his White House visit last month.

Philippine President Macapagal will definitely come to Washington in September. Authority for that word is Philippine Ambassador Emilio Abello. According to him, official Philippine indignation against the House's refusal to vote $73 million in war claims has subsided, and Macapagal now feels friendly enough to make his deferred visit here. What will happen if some other branch of the government or an official takes a slap at him is a guess. . . . West Germany is increasing the pay of its postal workers — by a device the U. S. Congress is still fretting over. The West German government is increasing postal rates to finance the pay boost, and that's all there is to it over there. . . . The Indian State Trading Corporation and Czechoslovakia and Hungary have signed agreements to supply them with 15,000 tons of manganese ore over the next several years. No price for this ore has been disclosed, and the transaction may be a barter for manufactured goods and machinery.

Interview With A Reporter

my. A Chief Executive should have no partisan objectives. His political strategy should be bound by the necessity for national security. His ideal must be pure patriotism. His methods should be motivated by increased cooperation between the parties. His aim should be unity.

Should government officials determine the policies of programs offered on the networks? Such government action is morally improper, legally dangerous and artistically ridiculous. The television industry is neither dominated by devils nor influenced by angels. It is run by many fine and intelligent citizens whose taste and morality are at least the equal of politicians.

How about the economic outlook? The economy is strong and resilient. Over the years the free enterprise system has survived and grown despite political incompetence. During the next decade a young man will have a thousand opportunities for every one which existed in the past ten years. Politicians can slow progress — they cannot stop it.

Local K. Of C. Chapter Dedicates New Home Sunday

JAMES T. Ogden, grand knight of the Father Butler Council, Knights of Columbus, complimented members of the council on the work they had done in realizing a dream which began seven years ago, at the dedication of the new home and grounds of the council, yesterday afternoon.

"The progress during the past seven years is a tribute to the cooperation of the members of the council and is not mine, but a cumulative thing," he told the audience.

"Thanks are also due the members of the committee and particularly, the co-chairmen, Charles A. Dellaria and Edward C. Boushell," he said.

Ogden was presented with a bronze plaque by Truman T. Burnett, which held a list of names of the grand knights who held office since the inception of the plan for the home. Burnett was grand knight in 1955.

Committee Work
Burnett said the work of the home association was to consider the plan, investigate possibilities, choose the property and arrange funds for payment.

Richard MacIntire, chief squire of the Junior Knights of Columbus, thanked the council for their far-sightedness in arranging for the property to include a separate building and area for the Squires to use for meetings and social activities.

A ball field has been set aside with plans for further sports facilities and family gatherings.

Rep. Van D. Yetter presented an American flag to the council which had been flown over the Capitol. He led the pledge of allegiance.

Rt. Rev. Msgr. Thomas J.

James T. Ogden

Cawley, pastor of St. Matthew's Roman Catholic Parish blessed the home and grounds.

Rev. John A. Esseff gave the invocation and benediction.

Knights and their families toured the grounds and had a picnic as part of the afternoon's festivities.

The Father Butler Council began June 30, 1955 under the auspices of Rev. Harold G. Durkin.

During the ensuing seven years, members of the council, with aid from the clergy, made strides toward their goal of a new home and grounds.

It was also announced yesterday that the 1963 Knights of Columbus State Convention would be held at Tamiment-In-The-Poconos in May. The Father Butler Council will be host.

Contact Kenneth Werkheiser, Local Dealer For Knapp Shoes

GENERAL OFFICES and two of the plants of the Knapp Brothers Shoe Manufacturing Corp. Manufacturing plants number seven in all; Warehousing and manufacturing operations are spread for easy distribution throughout the U. S. Locations include Brockton, Mass., where three of their plants plus the main office is located. Knapp Shoes have become one of the leading names in shoes because of personal customized fit and famous Aero-Tred Construction, a feature giving outstanding comfort.

Now Featuring New, Soft Ranger Shoe

MAN, talk about "easy on the feet" and you're talking about Knapp Shoes! According to Kenneth Werkheiser, local representative for Knapp Shoes, the new Ranger Last Knapp Shoe executed in soft supple glove leather is creating a mild sensation among men who go for casual comfort.

The Ranger is fashioned with famed Aerotred cushioned construction, (a Knapp patent) and is the most comfortable shoe you could ever wear. The two eylet moccasin front gives it a slipper-like fit; and a lightweight cushioned sole and heel keep it literally light as a feather.

The Knapp Shoe people have been in the business of producing fine footwear for over 41 years and are known throughout the nation. The business has been built on a foundation of quality, personal representative sales by trained personnel. Third and last, they specialize in a broad range of sizes for men women and children from size 3 to size 18D Actual widths range from AAA to EEEEE.

Knapp has long taken pride in the fact that their shoes are engineered for the particular need of workmen too! Support, type of leather, sole and heel material must be watched closely. For instance, the factory worker or service station worker must have a sole area that is impervious to oil and grease while the uppers must remain tough and neat in appearance.

Another dept. not as well known, or at least not as widely known as it might be, is the Ladies Shoe Department. Women who have difficulty in getting shoes that fit properly and look well will find the wide variety of Knapp Ladies' Shoes a delight to the eye and to wear.

All Knapp Shoes sold locally are sold only after custom measurements are taken by local representative Werkheiser. No substituting the next size or width... you get a shoe actually customized fit to your foot.

For more information on Knapp Shoes or for service on them inquire at Bud's Men Shop located at 760 Main St. Stroudsburg, or phone Werkheiser at HA 1-1242.

Duckloe's Now Producing "Buckingham House" Chairs

LATE last fall Frederick Duckloe and his lovely wife were taking a brief holiday from the busy Duckloe furniture plant and showroom in Portland and motored toward Mystic, Conn. to look over the quaint seaport.

Their interest in historical furniture and restoration of historical areas have been a fascination that is a natural, considering their business. The Mystic Seaport, itself, has been recreated as the original port for whaling and commerce of early New England and the home of early sailing ships.

A tour through this historic area brought them to Bucking h a m house where one item in particular caught their eye, an unusually fine handmade "Triple Bow Back" Windsor arm chair. A study of its construction and the charm of this chair convinced Frederick Duckloe that it would be a worthy addition to the Duckloe line of furniture.

Inquiry led Duckloe to Mr. Stackpole, the curator of the Mystic Seaport and to Mr. Brooks, the general manager from whom permission was gained to bring the original model to Portland for a truly scaled copy and to use their famous "Hallmark" on all reproductions beside the Duckloe furniture "brand".

Seven months have passed and the famed "Buckingham House" Windsor Arm Chair is now available for delivery and on display at the Duckloe's Portland showroom. Finishes include Antique Barn Red, Antique Brown Cherry and Fruitwood colors, all finishes being authentic Early American.

A trip through the world-famous Duckloe Showrooms in Portland and their room settings in The Golden Eagle Inn just down the street will delight the visitor and lover of fine furniture. Furniture styles available are Early American, French Provincial and Contemporary with lamps, room accessories, paintings (originals) by famous area artists.

The famous Duckloe line of Furniture dates back 103 years to the grandfather of the present owner, a wagon builder, cabinet-maker and master craftsman back in 1859.

Mary Carter Paints Offer Everything In Paint Needs

MARY Carter paints have come up with a new idea to help increase the accommodations business. Here's the way to step up revenues — give your guests gay, colorful rooms by Mary Carter to make their visits most pleasant, more memorable! Provide a cheerful variety of custom-tinted interior and exterior surfaces that will make them want to stay with you, again and again.

Mary Carter Quality Paints are one of only nine paints now certified for use by the American Hotel Association Members.

You'll find Mary Carter in the 1961 edition of the Certified Products List, which means Mary Carter paint has been certified by the American Hotel Association for the rigorous requirements of hotel and motel usage. Independent laboratory tests confirm Mary Carter Research Center product performance data, making this certification possible.

This is reason enough for you to decorate with Mary Carter Paints! But — consider the Mary Carter extras. For every can of Mary Carter paint, varnish or enamel you buy — quarts or gallons — you'll get an equal amount free of extra cost!

This means, for example, that when you buy the paint to redecorate ten rooms, Mary Carter will give you enough paint to do ten more rooms, free of extra cost!

Custom tinting, too — and we'll be pleased to include any number of shades in your order, blended to your individual requirements. Try Mary Carter when it's decorating time for you again — you'll be impressed by the economy, and your guests will be impressed by the beauty of rooms custom-tinted with Mary Carter Paints.

See Jack Muchlan, proprietor of Mary Carter Paints, S. Sixth St., Stroudsburg for information and the different types of Mary Carter Paints.

FOR CINDER BLOCK
Cinder blocks often contain tiny fragments of iron which will rust when in contact with moisture and then stain the block. The best way to prevent such staining is to paint the cinder block with a type of paint known as swimming pool paint which is also resistant to the alkali contained in this building material. Latex masonry paints should not be used directly on cinder block because the water used to thin these paints will cause rust quickly. Once the block is primed, latex paints are suitable.

SPECIFY THE BEST
Since the actual cost of the paint used by a professional painter represents only 15 to 20 per cent of the cost of the job, be sure to specify that the contractor use only quality paint made by a reputable manufacturer. Only quality paint made with the best possible raw materials will give your home the long-lasting protection and beauty that you rightfully expect when you have it painted.

Just Between Us — —

—By Bobby Westbrook

No human emotion comes unadulterated. Even in the midst of the deepest sorrow, a family must be dragged back to such mundane considerations as deciding what clothes will be suitable for a funeral.

Even in a fine frenzy of rage, with slamming doors and ideckling furniture, the hand instinctively withdraws from treasured heirlooms. And in the middle of the gayest party, suddenly your feet hurt and you realize you've had a busy week.

Certainly, the Daily Record-WVPO-Sun Litho party was one of the best with some of the most energetic twisting I've seen outside of the Peppermint Lounge. I hated to leave but in the book Nancy gave me for bedside reading "Check List for a Perfect Wedding" there were at least 20 pages devoted to what the mother of the bride should do the week before the wedding.

It's a very thorough book, but the author had obviously never met anybody quite like me—or my house. Just to be sure, I sat, all greasy from trying to fix the pump and with no water to get the grease off, and looked again.

There was a place to check whether or not the bride and groom had had the dentist check their teeth; and a place to check with the police about parking—but nowhere in the whole book was there a reminder to have the pump checked.

Obviously a key point in a formal wedding because unless the plumbers came riding to the rescue like a detachment of cavalry, formality will go by the boards. How formal, for instance, can bridesmaids get, all brushing their teeth out of the same tea-cup?

Fortunately, you'll be spared a blow-by-blow account of the contretemps that are likely to occur in the next few days, since I'm going to take my vacation so I'll have plenty of time for winging my hands at each fresh crisis.

When—and if — I survive, let's us rewrite the book. We'll just have one place to check: "Be sure the right girl is marrying the right man."

Rev. Feltham Honored By Mt. Zion

After seven years as lay minister of the Anabaptist Methodist parish, the Rev. Justin Feltham has resigned and a new pastor will take up his duties in the parish. This will be the first time for a number of years that the parish will not have a member of the Feltham family ministering to the spiritual needs of the church and community. Rev. Justin was preceded by his father, the late Rev. Ralph Feltham.

In appreciation for his loyal service, Mr. Feltham was honored at a covered dish supper at the Mt. Zion Methodist Church, Chipperfield Drive, on June 7, along with his wife and children.

Howard Teada, president of the official board of the church, presented a gift to the retiring pastor in behalf of the congregation.

After the supper in the annex, the 50 members adjourned to the church where a hymn sing, featuring Mr. Feltham's favorite hymns, was held.

Howard Teada showed slides, many picturing activities including weddings and baptisms during Rev. Feltham's pastorate in the locality.

The evening's activities closed with benediction by the Rev. Feltham.

The testimonial supper and program was sponsored by the WSCS of the Mt. Zion Church.

Fires Par 71 To Defeat Palmer In Wild Finish

By WILL GRIMSLEY

Associated Press Sports Writer

OAKMONT, Pa. (AP) — Jack Nicklaus, a robust 200-pounder who strangles a course with sheer brute strength, won the 62nd National Open Golf Championship in an 18-hole playoff Sunday as the miracle string ran out for the great Arnold Palmer. Nicklaus fired a par 71, Palmer 74.

The head-to-head battle over the rolling Oakmont Country Club course ended in a state of wild confusion, with Palmer taking a double bogey 6 on the final hole and Nicklaus, after being conceded a putt, being forced to return to the green and hole out from about 3 feet.

2-Stroke Lead

Nicklaus, with a two-stroke lead coming up to the 462-yard finishing hole, hooked his tee shot into the deep rough where he had an almost unplayable lie.

He had to chop out safely short of the green from where he played an excellent wedge shot about 15 feet away from the cup.

Palmer, meanwhile, was compounding the miseries which had plagued him most of the day.

With a chance possibly to get even, he hit a weak approach that stopped in the rough bordering a trap well below the green.

His chip was well-directed but too strong and rolled to the back edge of the green, 12 feet away.

Nicklaus ran his putter for a par 3 feet past the cup, giving Palmer an opportunity to apply the pressure if he could hole or his par.

But, Arnold, too, was strong, and when he tapped his next putt into the cup, he picked up the ball and conceded.

The finishing scores were denounced erroneously by Joe Dev, executive director of the U.S. Golf Association, stepped in and ordered Nicklaus to replace the ball and putt out.

The upset victory for the 22-year-old rookie professional from Columbus, Ohio, foiled Palmer's bid for a professional "grand slam." The Latrobe, Pa., strong boy had won the Masters earlier this year and had his sights set on the U.S. and British Opens and the U.S. PGA—a sweep never accomplished.

The triumph was worth $17,500 to Nicklaus ($15,000 first prize and bonus of $2,500), a pro for less than a year, and it boosted his year's money winnings to $5,698, already the most any first year man ever won on the rugged tour.

It was the Columbus youngster's second big paycheck in as many weeks. He won $10,000 for finishing second last week in the Golf Classic at Upper Montclair, N.J.

Palmer collected $10,250 for second place, also including a play-off bonus of $2,500, and boosted his year's earnings to $70,531.66, leading all professionals.

Nicklaus becomes the first man ever to win the U.S. Open his first year in money ranks and he is one of the youngest ever to take the toughest of all golf events.

Gene Sarazen was 20 when he won at Skokie, near Chicago, in 1922 and three months younger than Francis Ouimet when the ex-Boston caddy whipped Britain's Ted Ray and Harry Vardon in the famed playoff at The Country Club in Boston in 1913. Bob Jones and Walter Hagen both won the Open at the age of 21.

Indians Triumph 6-1; 6-3 Over Yanks Before 70,918

CLEVELAND (AP) — Before baseball's biggest crowd of the season, 70,918, the Cleveland Indians beat the New York Yankees 6-1 and 6-3 Sunday, sweeping a four-game series and boosting their hold on the American League lead to two games.

Dick Donovan, with a big relief assist from Barry Latman, won his 10th game against two losses in the opener when the Indians mauled Bill Stafford (6-4) for three consecutive home runs in a four-run second inning.

Willie Kirkland's 11th home run drove New York's second-game starter, Jim Coates, to the showers, a loser in the third inning. It scored Tito Francona, who hit a run-producing double after Al Luplow led off with a single. Coates (5-4) was the loser for the second straight day.

The Indians now have won nine of their last 12 games, and the slumping Yankees have dropped seven of their last eight.

Pedro Maos (4-3) got the nightcap victory but was removed with two out in the seventh, having given up six hits, including Yogi Berra's fifth home run in the fifth.

Jack Baldschun, taking over for rookie Paul Brown, went the rest of the way for his third win.

Saylorsburg Wins 9th Straight; W. End Beats A's To Tie For 2nd

SAYLORSBURG Lakers pushed across two runs in the last inning yesterday to run its winning skein to nine straight with a 6-5 verdict over Barrett in Pocono Mountain League action.

The Lakers pulled out the win on two doubles and a single in the ninth.

In other loop activity, West End, behind the nifty hurling of Brian Hill, moved into a second-place tie with Stroudsburg as they defeated the A's 5-0. Slipping Bowmanstown 1 to 0 dropped Bushkill 11-2 and Tannersville rocked Readers 15-9.

Huris 5-Hitter

Hill, fresh off the campus of Moravian College, pitched a five-hitter as the West Enders cracked out seven hits.

The A's, who had won three straight, left 11 runners stranded as Hill performed great in the clutch. Lefty Earl Everett, who was charged with the defeat, pitched good ball against the heavy-hitting West Enders.

An infield pop-fly error paved the way for the Enders to score three unearned runs in the fourth frame. The winners then went on to score two more in the sixth for the climax.

"Reds" Kresge and Denny Lakatosh were the only batters to get more than one hit. Kresge got 3-for-4 and Lakatosh went 2-for-4. None of the A's could collect more than one hit off of Hill.

Were Behind

Saylorsburg had to overcome a 3-4 disadvantage to edge out Barrett. The Lakers' A. Barney, who had a perfect 5-for-5 day at the plate, started the winning rally in the ninth with a double.

He stole third and romped home on Jerry Bond's double. The run tied the score at 5-4. Bond moved to third on a sharp single to first by Harold Faust. Minutes later, Bond scored the winning run as Wayne Bond, who was a pinch runner for Faust, stole second.

Tom Barrow, a product of East Stroudsburg State College, collected the win. It was his first game of the season and came after he relieved Bob Bonser in the fifth. Barrow permitted only 2 hits and one run. One of the hits was a homer by S. Cheslock.

The Lakers, in maintaining their first-place post, banged out 17 hits — all of them came from the hurrying of Carl Motts.

Ingo Scores Kayo To Take Europe Title

By RONALD THOMSON

GOTEBORG, Sweden (AP) — Ingemar Johansson of Sweden crashed two terrific rigids onto the jaw of Welshman Dick Richardson and won the European heavyweight championship in the eighth rounds before 55,000 almost hysterical fans in Goteborg Sunday night.

With blood streaming from a cut in the corner of his left eye, Johansson sent Richardson slumping helplessly to the canvas for a count of eight.

The big Welshman, defending his title for the fourth time, rose groggily to his feet and Johansson stormed in with another pulverizing right which dropped Richardson like a stone.

The Welshman rolled over onto his back, out cold. The time was two minutes, 16 seconds of the eighth round in the scheduled 15-round.

The Swedish crowd went wild with delight as French referee Pierre Verier counted out the unconscious Welshman. It was the first time Richardson had been beaten on the European continent.

For Johansson, it was a big step forward in his comeback campaign. The handsome Swede has set his sights on regaining the world title he lost to Floyd Patterson in 1960 and failed to regain in 1961.

Johansson weighed 202 pounds, Richardson 200.

The Associated Press gave Johansson every round, except the seventh, which was even.

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Norm Siebern drove in three runs with two homers Sunday as the surging Kansas City Athletics unleashed a 12-hit attack and whipped the Minnesota Twins 10-6 for their sixth straight victory.

Siebern and Joe Azcue each lashed three hits in leading the A's assault against four Minnesota pitchers. Jack Kralick started and suffered the loss as the Athletics opened up an early 5-1 lead against him.

Tigers Split

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Tigers cracked their seven-game losing streak with a four-homer assault Sunday in an 8-5 victory over Boston. But like Delock silenced the Tigers on seven hits in the nightcap of a doubleheader in pitching the Red Sox to a 5-0 triumph.

Purnell Goldy, just in his first week as a big leaguer, socked his first two homers and brought the Tigers back into a tie twice after Boston went ahead in the opener.

Rocky Colavito's two-run homer in the fifth snapped a 5-5 deadlock and enabled Hank Aguirre to pick up Detroit's victory with five perfect innings of relief pitching.

Angels Grab Pair

CHICAGO (AP) — The Los Angeles Angels snapped a four-game losing streak, defeating the Chicago White Sox, 5-3 and 6-5, Sunday and climbed within one-half game of the third place New York Yankees.

Two home runs by Leon Wagner and a brilliant relief stint by Bo Belinsky proved to be the margin of victory in the opener. A four-run rally featured by Felix Torres' two-run double in the eighth inning of the nightcap pushed the Angels to their double triumph.

Wagner provided most of Los Angeles' offense in the opener. He hit his 17th homer in the first inning and smashed No. 18 in the fourth.

In the bottom of the sixth, the Sox got to starter Dean Chance on a single by Bob Sadowski, a double by Luis Aparicio and Nellie Fox' two-run single. When Floyd Robinson singled with one out, Belinsky took over. He walked Joe Cunningham and then fanned Al Smith before getting Charley Smith to foul out.

George Hartshorn took the loss while J. Bonser was credited with the win.

Larry Johnson, with a 2-for-5 performance, batted in five runs for the winners.

The defeat dropped Readers to fifth place while Tannersville recorded its fourth victory.

Bowmanstown scored ten runs in the first five innings en route to its 11-2 triumph over Bushkill. The losers broke the shutout in the sixth on a solo run and added another in the ninth.

The winner's Bowman pitched 7-hit ball to record the victory, while his teammates combined to smack 11 hits off of Lits, Alden and Wescott.

Dear Abby

It's A Myth, Honey!

DEAR ABBY: I heard somewhere that if you throw a cat up in the air it will always land on its feet. Well, something went wrong because I threw our cat up in the air and she landed on her head! She just laid there like she was dead, and I thought she was for a minute, but then she got up and ran off. Will you please tell me who started that lie about cats? I thank you.

JANIE JUNE, (age 9)

DEAR JANIE: I don't know who started it, but I hope nobody else believes it. And if you hear that one about cats having nine lives, please don't try to prove it on your cat.

DEAR ABBY: My husband is a young aspiring business executive with a large well-known firm. We would like to establish good relations with his co-workers and bosses, but what is proper? We have recently been transferred to a new community and are much younger than most of the executives and their wives. Should I invite his bosses to dinner? Or would a Sunday brunch be in order? How about a dessert and coffee evening? I don't want to appear pushy but I'd like to help my husband advance in his business by helping him socially.

YOUNG WIFE

DEAR WIFE: You would be wise to sit back and wait for the wives of his co-workers to invite you first. Then return their invitations with similar ones. Don't initiate social contacts with the "bosses" or you'll be labeled "eager-beavers" — and that's fatal, both in business and the social swim.

DEAR ABBY: What has happened to the manners of our young people? I have seen unbelievable rudeness displayed by children in the presence of their parents, and not one word of reproach is said. When I was a child, all my parents had to do was give me a certain look and I shut up and acted right, or I caught it.

MITCH

DEAR MITCH: Perhaps our young people aren't able to see the "finer" of their disapproving parents. Blame it on poor vision — probably the result of too much television.

CONFIDENTIAL TO JOYCE: Don't buy that story. Where there is smoke there is NOT always fire. There could possibly be just someone with a burning desire to start trouble.

How's the world treating you? For a personal, unpublished reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to ABBY, care of this paper.

For Abby's booklet, "How To Have A Lovely Wedding," send 50c to ABBY, Box 3363, Beverly Hills, Calif.

Report On The Delaware River Basin

A Daily Record Feature

Resources And Needs Of The Delaware River Basin Briefed

By Noah Halper

THE Delaware River Basin is a 12,765 square mile land mass of which only 9 per cent is now considered as being in urban use. But within the next half century, according to government projections, 27 per cent will be in urban use and the population of about 6.5 million will double.

In that same period the amount of water withdrawn from the river, its tributaries, streams, springs and underground basins is expected to quadruple to about 14 billion gallons daily.

To meet these demands, the Delaware River Basin Commission must cut water waste — at times up to half the main stream of the river flows unused into the Atlantic Ocean — by promoting water reusage, storing water for drought periods and minimizing flood dangers.

The basin stretches 336 miles from Southeastern New York down to Delaware Bay between Cape May, N. J., and Cape Henlopen, Del. at its widest east-west point it extends from Fort Dix, N. J., to Pottsville, Pa.

The largest part of the basin, 6,422 square miles, is in Eastern Pennsylvania. There are 2,969 square miles in western New Jersey, 2,363 in New York, 1,004 in Delaware, 8 in Maryland, plus 782 square miles of water surface in Delaware Bay.

It is an area of adequate average rainfall, ranging from 42 inches annually in southern areas to 60 in the Catskills of New York. Snowfall of 20 inches in the south to 60 in the north also contributes to the replenishment of the basin's waters.

It is an area rich both in farms and industry. And one of its major industries is recreation, in the southern Catskills and the Poconos of Pennsylvania.

Yet, the Commission indicates, it still has a great potential for further recreational development. A multi-purpose dam proposed for Tocks Island, between New Jersey and Pennsylvania, is envisioned as the base for a 60,000-acre National Recreation Area.

Oddly, this offers one potential source of dispute.

Another, also centered at Tocks Island, near Stroudsburg, Pa., is the development of hydroelectric power. The issue of public or private power hasn't been resolved.

And with the growth of the region, the potential for flood damages increases if new homes and industries and recreation areas are located in flood plains.

The Commission and the Army Engineers, whose recommendations for development of the basin serve as a base for commission planning, speak also of the Delaware River Basin service area, a region extending east of the Hudson River in New York State, into Connecticut, and including all of New Jersey.

Who is it included? A Commission spokesman says Army Engineers used standard metropolitan areas in overall surveys of Delaware River Basin water usage. Since New York City draws a vast amount of its water supply from the basin, the standard metropolitan New York area was used. Some New Jersey areas beyond the basin were included because their ground water supplies originate in the basin, or because it is anticipated they will eventually seek water from the Delaware.

Seemingly another reason for reference to the service area is the plan, envisioned by the National Parks Service, of creating a national recreation area at Tocks Island. It would be expected, however, to serve primarily persons living within a 100 mile radius. Roughly there are 23 million persons in this region now but 42 million — with less open spaces to meet their recreation needs — are expected by 2010.

New Jersey's 600 million Green Acres plan, and Pennsylvania's $70 million Project 70 — both anticipating open space needs — fit in with commission planning and are mentioned in the Phase I program with which the commission now is working.

While 20 projects are listed by the Commission in Phase I, there is no project planned now for New York State. The Hawk Island Power Dam proposed by the Army Engineers is not included. Delaware would benefit from the Brandywine (Pa.) and the Newark (Del.) projects.

The bulk of the projects, already underway or in an active planning stage, would initially be in Pennsylvania and New Jersey. The New York City water supply of up to 800 million gallons daily from the Delaware River's headwaters is assured under the Commission agreement, with indications the city would in emergency be allowed to withdraw more.

How much water is needed by the entire basin?

Based on anticipated daily needs of up to 14 billion gallons by the year 2010, and the 8.5 billion gallons now available, the Army Engineers say 5.5 billion gallons a day.

But repetitive use of water by its return from one area for reuse in another area downstream reduces the need to 1.4 billion gallons.

This is a major need if the basin, the task which the Commission has assigned itself. It plans to meet the needs through dams, reservoirs, flood control projects.

Next — The Tocks Island Project.
